

ASK FOR DETAILS OF JAPANESE CONTROL

HOUSE IMMIGRATION COMMITTEE WANTS TO SEE CORRESPONDENCE

Would Inspect Gentleman's Agreement With Respect to Japanese Control of Immigration to United States—Are Told That it Does Not Apply to the Hawaiian Islands

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The Japanese exclusion question broke out in congress again today. Informed that Hawaii was being flooded with Japanese the house immigration committee asked the state department to furnish details of the gentleman's agreement of 1908 with respect to Japanese control of immigration to the United States. Diplomatic correspondence leading to the understanding which the committee was told does not apply to Hawaii, never has been made public and the committee decided to investigate.

Despite contentions of some members that discussion of the matter at this time might impede plans for international conference on disarmament and Pacific questions the committee decided to go into the thirteen year old arrangement. After it had heard J. V. A. McMurray, chief of the division of far eastern affairs of the state department and had received a telegram from V. S. McClatchey, Sacramento, Calif., publisher, dealing with the general subject of Japanese immigration.

The committee has under consideration a resolution which would authorize the president to lift the immigration ban in Hawaii to meet seasonal requirements for labor by importing Chinese.

Not Applied to Hawaii
Mr. McMurray told the committee that Japan had never regarded the agreement as applying to Hawaii and added incidentally that inasmuch as it was a voluntary proposition from Japan, this country was diplomatically bound until the other party to the understanding should withdraw. His statement concerning Hawaii brought from Chairman Johnson the exclamation that the time had arrived for a declaration that Hawaii is a part of the United States with respect to Japan and all others.

Mr. McMurray said that the Japanese government had regulated the number of laborers to whom passports to Hawaii were issued through an informal arrangement worked out with the sugar planters of the islands by the Japanese consular officers who were informed each season of the number required. Mr. Johnson interrupted to say that he understood the number allowed to go to Hawaii each year was really below the requirements, a position taken by Japan in order to prevent a break in wages.

The statement concerning the agreement between the employers and the Japanese government was immediately denied by Royal D. Mead, special labor agent of the planters' organization.

Because of the delicacy of the subject, Mr. McMurray answered most questions guardedly and some were not answered at all.

Condemn Gompers' Language
Wailuku, Island of Maui, T. H., July 22.—Condemnation of the "intemperate language" of Samuel Gompers in opposing before the house immigration committee, a proposal to admit Chinese labor into the Hawaiian Islands was expressed today in a resolution unanimously adopted by the Maui Post of the American Legion. The resolution declares Gompers' charges that labor conditions on Hawaiian plantations are oppressive are without foundation, and urges passage of the congressional resolution authorizing the president to permit the entry of Chinese labor into the territory.

Jury Confession of Cicotte, Jackson and Williams Disappear

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, July 22.—Original copies of grand jury confessions in which Eddie Cicotte, Joe Jackson and Claude Williams, White Sox players, declared they had been paid from $5,000 to $10,000 to throw games in the 1919 world series and the statements they signed waving immunity are missing, it became known today when the state began its fight to introduce the confessions as evidence in the baseball trial.

The announcement came as a dramatic sensation near the end of today's session of court when the state placed Hartley Replegie, former assistant state's attorney who directed the first grand jury investigation of the baseball scandal on the stand and revealed that it would have to depend on carbon copies of the confessions and on the testimony of men who heard them and who are said to have seen the immunity waivers signed. The defense plans to contend that the confessions were made involuntarily.

Judge Hugo Friend sent the jury from the court room and will hear all of the evidence in the matter before deciding if it is admissible. If he decides it is, it will have to be repeated before the jury. Indications are that Williams, Cicotte and Jackson will take the stand during this private hearing to testify that their confessions were not made voluntarily. Replegie, Judge Charles A. McDonald and grand jurors will be the state's witnesses.

Second Loss of Papers
This is the second loss of papers in the baseball case, copies of the grand jury testimony having been made and offered for sale in Chicago some time ago.

Previous to beginning the fight over the confessions the state introduced testimony naming Carl Zork of St. Louis, now on trial as an instigator of the alleged sell out, and Ben and Louis Levi of Kokomo, Ind., as bet placers for Abe Atell during the series.

Harry Redmon of East St. Louis, Illinois, testified that Zork during a conversation with him the day after the fourth game of the series in which the alleged game throwing was discussed said:

"And I, the little red head from St. Louis, started the whole thing."

Zork's attorneys promptly announced they would produce an alibi for Zork, saying he left for St. Louis from about 8 to 11 p. m. Redmon was vigorously cross-examined by the defense and called Attorney Henry Berger a liar when Berger declared he was a gambling bookmaker.

Confessions Made Voluntarily
Replegie testified that the confessions were made voluntarily, that he saw the immunity waivers signed and that no one, to his knowledge, promised immunity to any of the men. He said Judge McDonald had said something to Williams after the confession about a trial court probably taking into consideration the fact that he had voluntarily confessed.

D. P. Cassidy of Detroit, Cicotte's attorney, cross-examined Replegie, but the latter did not in any way change his original testimony.

Mr. Replegie will be on the stand again when court resumes Monday and probably will be followed by Judge McDonald and grand jurors.

In a statement discussing the loss of the confessions, Mr. Gorman said:

"We have information that a fund was raised by eastern gamblers to obtain these and other papers. It is reported that $10,000 was paid for the grand jury testimony which was copied during a previous administration. I do not think this has weakened our case in any way, for the grand jurors can testify and Judge McDonald and Replegie can testify. I am confident that this testimony now being heard privately before Judge Friend, finally will be admitted as competent before the jury. We are not accusing anyone of stealing these papers, but I presume it would be advisable to look for them in the quarters where their loss would do the most good."

Will Make Statement
New York, July 22.—Arnold Rothstein, mentioned in testimony at the trial of former White Sox players and others in connection with the failure of the Arcola State Bank there, was arrested here tonight and taken to Belleville, Ill., where he is held incommunicado. It was announced he would be taken to Tuscola tomorrow.

Conference Plans Will Be Perfected

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 22.—Un- less checked by unexpected development at Tokio the United States government, it was believed today, will act without further loss of time in perfecting its plan for a conference of the principal powers on limitation of armament and far eastern subjects. The extent to which Japan is willing to participate in the discussions is understood to be under consideration at a meeting of the advisory council and there appeared to be reason to believe that the Japanese states- man would reach a decision favor- able to a discussion arising out of the Orient, altho perhaps with certain reservations.

The informal conferences between Secretary Hughes and Ambassador Shidehara are known to have gone far towards convincing the administration that the Japanese government will agree to enter- taining the conference without material reservations and that the general questions at issue will be approached frankly and freely by all participants.

Insistent suggestions that Belgium should be given a seat at the conference have not served to alter the opinion of the United States government that the discussions should be limited to the principal allied and associated powers as generally accepted. It was explained that to open the doors to Belgium would make it necessary to permit the entrance of any other government making application. It was declared that in maintaining such an attitude there was no intention of discrediting Belgium or any of the small powers and that the conference always would be willing to hear the representa- tions of any nation even tho not a member of the conference, in cases where her interests were affected.

PRESIDENT WILL SUBMIT PLAN FOR FUNDING R.R. DEBT

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 22.— President Harding will submit to congress next Tuesday the administration plan for funding the debts of the railroads to the government and meeting without additional appropriations the claims of the roads growing out of federal control.

An understanding has been reached among the roads and the administration it was learned today, to facilitate speedy settle- ment of the claims of the carriers without any new arrangements or modification of the wartime con- tracts with the government. Authority to fund the debts of the roads, it was explained is given the president by the transportation act but it was deemed advis- able to acquaint the congress with the methods under consideration.

Use of the war finance corpora- tion as the agency affecting, thru the railroad administration, the settlement of the government's fi- nancial relations has been sug- gested as well as other means, but additional authority from congress would be required to permit the corporation to take part in the contemplated transactions. After three weeks of negotiations the basis upon which the railroad's claims would be quickly met, was said to have reached thru the roads according to the administra- tion's request to waive claims for "inefficiency or labor." In the work done on the lines by the government before returning them to private control.

Rights Not Affected.
In waiving such claims how- ever, it was declared the right any of the roads to sue on them in the courts would not be affected in the event of a failure of settle- ment.

The administration's position during the negotiations with the carriers was declared to have been that the roads ought to facilitate settlement without considering what the government regarded as extravagant claims for efficiency of labor. Only these claims, it was asserted were in dispute and so far the railroad administration has refused with the approval of the president to make any ad- justment on that basis.

On the other hand the adminis- tration felt, it was asserted that the government had not been fair to the railroads and should give them what was rightfully theirs. At the same time it was desir- able to facilitate settlement of the railroad problem which would enable the closing of the railroad administration, an expensive government agency.

Debts of the roads to the govern- ment have been generally es- timated at about five hundred mil- lion dollars while their claims have been put at various figures. Director General of Railroads in a recent estimate to congress declared that while all the claims were not in, it was thought the total would be one billion two hundred fifty million dollars, which if settled on the basis of about forty per cent as heretofore would approximate five hundred million dollars.

MAJOR CAMPBELL MAKES DENIAL OF BERGDOLL STORY

Says He Did Not Re- ceive Single Penny from Bergdoll's

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 22.—Major Bruce R. Campbell of the United States army, told a house investigating committee today that not a single penny of the six- ty-five hundred dollars placed by him with a Wall street firm for stock market trading, last year was received from the Bergdoll family.

Flatly denying the charge by Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll of Phil- adelphia, that he had been paid five thousand dollars to aid in ob- taining freedom for Grover Cleve- land Bergdoll, her draft dodging son, Major Campbell declared that the sum sent to the brokers was his own money hidden by his wife at her home since the early days of the war.

The major called here hurriedly without opportunity to examine the charges against him, first de- clined to testify at this time as to the source of the fund. But pressed hard by the committee he turned about suddenly and told of the hidden treasure and a mo- ment later related in detail how a five hundred dollar investment placed with the late Milton Young of Lexington, Ky., before the war, grew to six thousand dollars by 1917. It was this same sum, he said, that was hidden away and later shifted to Wall street and lost.

Professing ignorance as to how the Young investment had in- creased, Major Campbell said that it had been turned back to him by a man, still living but whose name he declined at the moment to give. Then in the midst of a sharp exchange with a committee man, Campbell broke in, declaring, "Oh hell, it was my father."

At this point the committee de- cided to call the father, William R. Campbell of Lexington who was asked to come at once.

Reluctant About Family Affairs
Extremely reluctant to touch upon family affairs to clear him- self of the charges, Major Camp- bell declared that it had been his purpose to ask time that he might corroborate fully every word of his testimony. It was this reason, he said, that he did not want to disclosed all of his evidence until he had been allowed to submit proof in denial of the accusations.

The major asserted that a "frightful" injustice had been done him by the committee. He protested vigorously that an agent of the army intelligence service, in inspecting his bank account at New York had not shown that at a prior date he had more than $5,000 on deposit. A telegram, he said had been sent the bank re- questing that it verify his state- ment to this effect and to send its answer in care of Chairman Pet- ters.

At various times Major Camp- bell declared he and his wife had seventeen thousand dollars on de- posit not counting the sum lost on the market, but he declined to mention the names of banks un- til he could get hold of his papers, en route with his household ef- fects from Governor's Island to Little Rock, Ark.

There were moments when the major was able to control his feelings when referring to his wife and his old father, and he bunched the table in anger as he denounced what he said was the attempt of the Berg- dolls to blacken his name. As military counsel for the black- ening he never received a dollar, he declared. The only thing they ever gave him, he said, were three lit- tle cambric handkerchiefs bought at a soldiers' fair on the island, as trinkets for his babies.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL WOULD ISSUE BONDS

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 22.— Application was made to the Illinois Commerce Commission by the Illinois Central railroad today for authority to issue bonds totaling fifteen million eight hundred sixty thousand dollars.

Authority for the three follow- ing bond issues were sought in the application: $3,708,000, Illinois Central and Chicago, St. Louis & New Orleans railroad, joint first refunding bonds.

$4,152,000, Illinois Central re- funding mortgage gold bonds. $8,000,000, Illinois Central first- year 6 1/2 secured gold bonds.

Chicago, July 22.—An or- dinance redistricting Chicago into fifty instead of the present thirty- five wards was passed by the city council today. The new or- dinance will become effective in the spring of 1923.

NO ACTION WILL BE TAKEN IN SMALL CASE UNTIL NEXT TUESDAY

Governor's Attorneys Appear as Friends of the Court—Are Thanked by Judge Smith Who Says That as No Motion Was Made for Ruling That He Would Make None

(By The Associated Press)
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 22.—Governor Len Small, under indictment for embezzlement and conspiracy to de- fraud the state, still defied arrest by Sangamon county au- thorities tonight and sat triumphant at the head of the state government apparently secure, until next Tuesday, at least, from interference by deputies from Sheriff Mester's office.

The governor without receding from his claims of im- munity, won a temporary victory without exhausting any legal ammunition. His counsel who argued that the gov- ernor, because of his position as chief executive of the state, is above the reach of the law, made it plain that they ap- peared before Judge E. S. Smith today as "friends of the court" to offer opinions but not to present any motions.

Their appearance as friends of the court was accepted with thanks by Judge Smith who declared that he had no motion for a ruling in the case and therefore would make none. In recessing his court the judge declared that "noth- ing will be done before next Tuesday."

LOSS TO MICHIGAN AVENUE TRUST IS NEAR $1,500,000

Figures are Given Out by Uncle of Missing President

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, July 22.—The loss to Michigan Avenue Trust com- pany bank which was closed Thursday in the absence of its president, Warren C. Spurgin, will be more than one million dollars and may reach $1,500,000.

These figures were given out to- night by George M. Reynolds, chairman of the Continental and Commercial National Bank's board of directors and uncle of Spurgin, who had not been located up to a late hour tonight.

No action has been taken against Spurgin and the audit of the bank's books continued today. At a meeting of depositors, it was decided to try to save the bank rather than force it into the hands of a receiver. The bank had close to $4,000,000 in deposits and the auditor has found $214,000 in cash and a quantity of stocks and bonds.

The Michigan Avenue Trust had no connection with any other Chicago bank and was not a mem- ber of the clearing house associa- tion.

CHILDREN FIND BODY OF MAN IN RIVER

(By The Associated Press)
ROCKFORD, July 22.—Child- ren wading at Blackhawk park on Rock river here today discovered the corpse of a man afloat about fifty feet off shore. A gaping bullet wound told the story of the death. No marks of identifica- tion were found. The body had evidently been in the water about two days. Police believe that the corpse was thrown into the river at Rockford and floated south to the point where it was found. Failure to find any sort of a weapon is thought to preclude a sui- cide theory.

Coroner Olson will perform an autopsy tomorrow morning to se- cure the bullet as a possible source of a clue. The man was in the dress of a laborer. The initials "M. J." on a pocket handkerchief are the only clue. The man's na- tionality was apparently Russian.

RATES ON EXPORT GRAIN ARE CUT

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 22.—Freight rates on export grain from points in Illinois to New Orleans have been cut three cents per hundred pounds by the Illinois Central railroad effective August 11. Notice has been given by the Southern Railway that it will meet the rate. Rail lines to other gulf ports are expected to make the same reductions. Action of the Illinois Central will restore the relative status of export grain that existed between the gulf ports and the Atlantic ports be- fore July 1, when the reduced rates from Illinois points became effective to the Atlantic seaboard, under an order of the interstate commerce commission.

SANTA CLAUS OF CHICAGO IS DEAD

Chicago, July 24.—John M. Hubbard, known for many years as the Santa Claus of Chicago, died tonight at Saxon's River, Vermont, his boyhood home, ac- cording to word received here. Mr. Hubbard received and answered many letters addressed to San- ta Claus by the children of Chicago and Illinois.

The mayor of Oklahoma City declares an "invisible" empire exists in that city and vicinity, to which a majority of his police force owe allegiance—the Ku Klux Klan. An organization claiming this name existed in the South after the close of the civil war and was suppressed years ago. At the present time, injustice may be done the organization recently formed under that name, but in attributing to it recent outrages in the Southwest, in a letter to Chief of Police Glitch, Mayor Walton said: "I have positive proof that an organization exists in this city, secret in its nature, but unquestionably neither fraternal nor beneficial. WE CAN SYMPATHIZE
Great Britain is going through much the same experience with her railways as did the United States. They have been under government control, but will be returned to their private owners in August. The roads have been nearly wrecked physically and financially by administration mistakes during the time they have been in the hands of the government, and the roads have back claims against the Federal authorities of $300,000,000. A bill is now pending in Parliament to provide for the return of the properties. Many of the provisions of our own Transportation Act have been adopted by the British, who foresee a much more efficient and economical administration of their railroads.

PRACTICAL WORK
President Harding's invitation to Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan to meet in Washington for discussion with the United States of the question of limitation of naval armament may culminate in the crowning achievement of his administration. It cannot be doubted that all the nations invited will accept. Not to do so would be an admission of the charge of militarism in its most ominous sense. The conference is almost certain to be held, but its outcome cannot be predicted. But even if it resulted only in an agreement to cease naval construction for five years after Versailles now building have been completed, the conference would have amply justified itself, and President Harding could take to himself credit for initiating the greatest movement for universal peace that the world has ever known.

SPECULATION
If a vacancy exists in the office of governor and lieutenant governor as the result of the indictment of Governor Len Small, a special election would be necessary to fill the vacancy, in the judgment of former Governor Frank O. Lowden.
Former Governor Lowden indicated that he was not inclined to take up the contention of several constitutional lawyers that he is entitled and in duty bound to return to the executive mansion in this city, if it was shown that Governor Small and Lieutenant Governor Fred S. Stearns were disqualified at the time of their election.

Mr. Lowden said that section 127 of article 46 of the revised statutes of Illinois seemed to clearly provide that in case of vacancies in the offices of governor and lieutenant governor, they should be filled by a special election. Other lawyers have held that Mr. Lowden would hold over until the office was properly filled.

John Maynard Harlan of Chicago, Republican candidate for governor last fall, was the first to advance the theory that Mr. Lowden would return to office. The section of the statute referred to by Mr. Lowden provides that it shall be the duty of certain officials to issue a call for a special election if the offices of governor and lieutenant governor are vacant. The section referred to is as follows:

"In case of vacancies in the office of governor and lieutenant governor, the officer performing the duties of the office of governor, or if there is no such officer, the secretary of state shall issue a proclamation appointing a day for a special election to fill such vacancies and shall issue a writ of election to the county clerks of the several counties of the state, and shall also, when necessary, call a special session of the general assembly to canvass the votes cast at such election; but if such vacancy shall occur not more than ninety days before a general election for members of the legislature, the vacancies shall be filled at such general election, in which case no special session of the general assembly to canvass the vote shall be deemed necessary."

It has been contended by some that if the governor and lieutenant governor were disqualified, State Senator Jewell of Lewistown, president pro tem of the state senate, would be acting governor of Illinois. Under the section of the statute cited by Mr. Lowden he would serve only until a special election was called and the vacancy filled by a vote of the people.

WHY THE ANGLO-JAPANESE ALLIANCE?
The old saying that "men are but children of a large growth" seems to have an apt illustration in the manner in which British and Japanese statesmen are conducting themselves in connection with negotiations for a renewal of the Anglo-Japanese defensive alliance. The diplomats of these two nations are apparently seeking opportunities to assure the United States that the treaty can have no possible object inimical to the interests of this country, yet every schoolboy knows that the United States is the only nation of such location and strength as to be a possible antagonist of either Great Britain or Japan to such an extent as to make a cooperative treaty of any use whatever.

The treaty purports to be solely for aid in defense if attacked, yet either Japan or Great Britain could defend herself from the attack of any nation without any help from any source, unless the attack came from the United States, and there is not the slightest reason to suspect that the United States has even a thought of attacking either of them. In all its history, the American nation has never displayed an aggressive, imperialistic policy. The war of the Revolution and the War of 1812 were forced upon the people of this country by the aggressions of Great Britain and the whole world will agree that the American people bore the indignities until forbearance became no longer possible. The Mexican war is the least defensible of our international conflicts, and yet the results have been so eminently beneficial to the inhabitants of the territory acquired, and to the development of the latent resources, that no one can be found today who cites that war as an evidence of improper motive on the part of this nation. The war with Spain was nominally precipitated by an insult to the flag of this country by the sinking of the Maine but it was in reality for the purpose of freeing misused inhabitants of Spanish possessions from ceaseless cruelty. After the united action in China the United States voluntarily relinquished claims for indemnities, thus setting an example in magnanimity for all other nations that participated.

Now, therefore, since there is nothing in the history of the United States or in present public discussion that justifies even a suspicion that the United States has any evil designs concerning either Great Britain or Japan, and since this the only nation whose aggressions could cause any concern to either of them, what excuse is there for the renewal of a treaty of alliance? Imagination can conceive but one purpose—to make the treaty something more than a treaty of alliance for defense, though giving it an outward appearance of defense.

The people of Great Britain have not the slightest fear of any aggression from America. Neither do the people of Japan. Nor, furthermore, have the people of any British possession, least of all the people of Canada. The demand or suggestion in favor of renewal of the treaty does not come, therefore, from the peoples of those two nations, but from the governmental leaders who apparently have some purpose in mind which they are concealing from their own people.

If promotion of world peace and disarmament is desired, Great Britain and Japan would do well to make it definitely known that they realize the needlessness of any treaty of defense alliance, and, therefore, that they have abandoned all thought of renewing it.

TRIBUTE TO A FRIEND

In the latter part of the 18th century and the early part of the last century there resided in Concord the capital of New Hampshire, some well known individuals. One was Rev. Andrew McFarland, D. D., one of the great ministers of his day. Another was Hon. Samuel Morrill, member of the leading bank of the city.

Among the children of Dr. McFarland were Andrew and Sarah and the oldest daughter of Mr. Morrill was Ann. The son studied medicine, made a specialty of brain and nervous diseases, came west at an early day and was appointed superintendent of the first hospital for the insane in Illinois and located in Jacksonville.

The daughter, Sarah, married one of nature's rare noblemen, George Guthrie, whose home was in Zanesville, Ohio, the greater part of his life.

In his day the place was divided one part on one side of the Muskingum river being called Zanesville and the one on the other part being called Putnam. There for years, on the Putnam side, Mr. Guthrie successfully conducted a sash and blind factor. Eventually the two places were merged into one just as New York has absorbed Brooklyn. Mr. Morrill's daughter married Rev. Warren Nichols, a young graduate of Williams College and Andover theological seminary. They moved to Missouri in 1833 bringing as far as Jacksonville Miss Hannah Payerweather, sister of Mrs. J. M. Sturtevant, and who subsequently became the wife of the honored head of Illinois college.

Mr. Nichols remained but a year in Missouri, seeing all he wanted to do of slavery and moved into Illinois residing in Adams, Hancock and Pike counties for fifteen years when he moved to Ohio as his health broke down in the midst of the malaria of the early days.

For several years his family lived in Muskingum county, a few miles from Zanesville and very naturally Sarah and Ann lost no time in getting together and talking over the days of their childhood when they were near neighbors in Concord. The Guthries had a beautiful home and in it the minister and his family were ever welcome and much generous hospitality was enjoyed there and many favors received.

Mr. Nichols had two children a daughter, the late Mrs. Sanford of this city and the writer. The Guthrie family consisted of two sons, William E. who spent his life in the Ohio home and George C. now of this city, and two daughters.

One day 69 years ago, Mrs. Nichols looked out of the window of her home and remarked, "There are Mr. Guthrie and Will," so it was, and they had come to make the minister's family a visit which was much enjoyed and soon after their return a letter came addressed to Master S. W. Nichols, the first missive he had ever received and a proof he was indeed. The two friends kept up a regular correspondence for 69 years and yesterday morning came the sad news that Mr. Guthrie had passed away.

Of course the parents of the two families long ago went to their eternal reward but the friendship of the survivors was always maintained. Like his honored father, William E. Guthrie was a fine man in every sense of the word. Successful in business a pillar in the church, he had a lovely home presided over by a lady of rare worth and generous natural gifts. A lovely daughter gladdened their hearts and the family always had many friends who admired them for their true worth.

With peculiar sadness the writer heard of the death of his long time friend. He was a man universally respected, kind and devoted to his loved ones, public spirited and a true patriot. His bereaved family will have the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

Geo. C. Guthrie of this city left for Zanesville Tuesday evening.

WILL GIVE TRACTOR DEMONSTRATION HERE

Jacksonville Farm Supply Company Arranges for School to Be Held on the Joe Brown Farm on the State Road East of the City—Dates Are July 26 and 27.

Education in all lines of work is what we admit makes it possible for the success we desire. Farming being the greatest of all lines of endeavor should have the most attention and we all know the farmer is entitled to obtain what he is entitled to, needs to have the education as well as the manufacturer.

The people in the State of Illinois pay great sums of money to maintain the great University for agricultural schools. The one atampaign is a credit to our great state as well as to our nation.

These schools are maintained so that we can learn how to obtain the greatest results from our soil. We know that to obtain the proper results, it is necessary to have the proper equipment. The next question that is before the farmer is to have the information as to how to give his equipment the proper care and how to operate the machinery. This is taught by a separate branch in the University at Champaign but it takes considerable time and a great many of us have not this time to go to these schools to obtain this knowledge.

One of our progressive firms, the Jacksonville Farm Supply Co., has arranged whereby they can bring this knowledge to the people who have not the time to attend the schools to obtain the same. They will give an outdoor school for two days and will have competent teachers, men who have made a study of agricultural work to show you just how to obtain the best results from the operation of tractors together with the proper care for the same.

This school will be held from 1 p. m. July 26th to 5 p. m. July 27th, in the field known as the Joe Brown farm which is farmed by N. E. Ostry on the state road east of town. It is the first field on the south side of the road after you pass over the hill from passing under the Wabash viaduct toward Springfield.

There is plenty of shade and the Company has planned to have two outfits at work, also to have parts of different makes of tractors for your examination and comparison.

The teachers are men well versed in all tractors and they will gladly give you any information requested regarding any make of tractor together with a world of information regarding the use and care of all makes. They will also be pleased to put

THIS 'YOUNG MOTHER

Millston, Wis.—"I want to give you a word of praise for your wonderful medicine. We are very fond of children and for a considerable time after we married I feared I would not have any owing to my weak condition. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I have a nice strong, healthy baby girl. I can honestly say that I did not suffer much more when my baby was born than I used to suffer with my periods before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound years ago. I give all the credit to your medicine and shall always recommend it very highly."—Mrs. H. H. JANSSEN, Millston, Wisconsin.

THIS 'YOUNG MOTHER

Millston, Wis.—"I want to give you a word of praise for your wonderful medicine. We are very fond of children and for a considerable time after we married I feared I would not have any owing to my weak condition. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I have a nice strong, healthy baby girl. I can honestly say that I did not suffer much more when my baby was born than I used to suffer with my periods before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound years ago. I give all the credit to your medicine and shall always recommend it very highly."—Mrs. H. H. JANSSEN, Millston, Wisconsin.

SHEPPARD BILL PASSED BY THE SENATE FRIDAY

Debate Prior to Passage is Marked by Many Clashes

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 22.—The Shepard bill providing for cooperation between the federal government and states in "protection of maternity and infancy," was passed today by the senate and sent to the house.
The vote on passage was 63 to 17 after sharp clashes between advocates and opponents. The former declared the legislation was a great humanitarian step denying that it contemplated interference in the home; the latter asserted that it was "socialistic, paternalistic and Bolshevistic."
The bill carries initial appropriations of $1,480,000 which the states would be required to match. An amendment by Senator Reed to cut $500,000 from the federal fund was rejected 59 to 6.
Senator Reed declared that "spinners" of the children's bureau would "dictate to American mothers and offered an amendment to change the title to a bill to organize a board of spinsters to teach mothers how to raise babies."
The amendment was rejected amid broad smiles, without roll call.
Senator Kenyon, Republican, Iowa, in charge of the bill, declared sarcastic references to "spinster management," while Senator Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, author of the measure, declared there would be no "compulsion in the activities of federal agents and no invasion of the home."

TEX RICKARD IS SUBPOENAED

NEW YORK, July 22.—Tex Rickard, promoter of the Dempsey-Carpentier bout in Jersey City, July 2, today was served with a subpoena to appear before the federal grand jury Monday in connection with the alleged transportation of motion pictures of the contest to points outside New Jersey.

A local theater has advertised that the pictures would be shown tomorrow.
F. C. Quimby, who has an interest in film rights and has arranged for tomorrow's exhibition here contends that the bout was a boxing match, and as such there was no federal statute to prevent motion of it from being transported from one state to another for exhibition.

Reports that Mr. Quimby's attorneys had obtained a ruling from Attorney General Daugherty that the exhibition was permissible were denied by federal district Attorney Hayward.
Mr. Hayward said the extreme punishment for interstate transportation of the films for exhibition purposes was $1,000 fine or two years' imprisonment or both, but "should conspiracy be charged the punishment would be much greater."

OLD ENGINEER AGAIN AT THROTTLE

Rochester, N. Y., July 22.—Charles Hogan, aged 70, who manned the old engine 999 when she made her record run of 112.5 miles an hour on May 10, 1893, was again at the throttle of the famous Empire State when she left here this afternoon for Chicago, drawing the old Dewitt-Clinton train.
Hogan declared he did not know if he could hold the throttle all the way to Buffalo, but he insisted he would engineer the trip over the scene between Lancaster and Crittenden, where he established the record that has never been beaten.

Miss Mildred Sheppard was a city shopper from Woodson yesterday.

WHITE HALL S. S. CLASS
WILL MEET ON LAWN

First Baptist S. S. Class Taught by E. L. Wendell to Meet Outdoors Next Sunday.

White Hall, July 20.—Considerable promotional activity has characterized the class of the First Baptist Sunday school until recently taught by Robert G. Smith, superintendent of public schools. With Mr. Smith's retirement to go to the school superintendency at Rushville, he suggested methods for carrying on the work of his Sunday school class, and the best move that was made in the selection of E. L. Wendell as his successor as teacher.

M. Wendell is a master of history and logic, and he is giving studied preparation to every Sunday lesson with the result that there is a gradually increased attendance recorded for the past three Sundays in spite of the hot weather. The class has determined to secure the largest hearing for Mr. Wendell in his Sunday morning lesson lectures, and next Sunday morning the session will be held in the shade of the stately maple immediately south of the church, where all may gather in their most comfortable garb. Frank Greer, Sunday school superintendent, states that he will give personal attention to the arrangements for the meeting of the class on the lawn.

The lesson for next Sunday, July 24th, will deal with the beginning of Paul's ministry, found in Acts 10: 34-43. The subject of the lesson will be devoted to a study of the life and achievements of the greatest exponent of Christianity in the first century of the Christian era. These lessons will be full of interest, and Mr. Wendell proposed to devote ten to fifteen minutes of the class period to a brief pointed discussion of the life and deeds of great young men. He will begin with Alexander the Great next Sunday.

INTERESTING
NEIGHBORHOODS

There are many neighborhoods in Morgan county having most interesting histories; many of which would please those who have lived here any length of time and have become identified with our grand county and its inhabitants. Both early and present.

One of these vicinities is southwest of Lynnville. There in the early part of the last century came Joseph Campbell, grandfather of James Campbell, residing on the Merritt road just inside the Morgan county line. He is one of the highly respected citizens of the county and now past the age of eighty he can look back on a well spent life and see about him or not far away, a family who are an honor to him. His wife is the oldest daughter of the Rev. E. G. Rice mentioned in a recent article in the Journal.

A son of Joseph Campbell was Green E. Campbell who died when a comparatively young man, leaving a widow and one daughter, Margaret, now an honored resident of this city, at 710 West College street, where she and her daughter, Mrs. Winifred Harris, are enjoying life in a sensible manner. Mr. Campbell was stricken with the California fever, as were so many more in the days of '49, and went to the land of gold by the tedious overland route, but he found his grave there.

The daughter, Margaret, married Samuel Heaton who passed away in March 1912. They were the parents of twelve children, of whom six are living. They are Henry of California, Edwin of Danville, Roy and John, residing in the neighborhood southwest of Lynnville, Mrs. Winifred Harris of this city and Mr. Harry Coultas of Lynnville. There are also sixteen grandchildren.

In the early days there were three well known names in this vicinity, Wilson, Heaton and Gordon.

William Gordon came to the neighborhood in 1826 from St. Louis. He died when comparatively young. His children were John Gordon, Mrs. Charles Jones, Mrs. B. F. Beasley, Mrs. John Carter and David who went to California in search of gold, but lived to get back. All have passed away.

Valentine Heaton came to the neighborhood from Madison county in 1844 and married the widow of William Gordon and they were the parents of Samuel Heaton already mentioned.

South of Lynnville is the wilson place occupied in early days by substantial people who have been an honor to the community. One of the daughters is now Mrs. Charles Potter.

It is a genuine pleasure to know the people mentioned. Mrs. Heaton can go to the neighborhood and recall the days when log houses were the rule; when two rooms accommodated a family of any size sometimes the upper part, called by courtesy the loft, made room for the younger ones. Sometimes guests were asked to ascend the ladder to the second story, the parents climbing up first and the children handed up afterward. Hospitality was a cardinal virtue and no one was ever turned away from those humble abodes. Convenience and luxuries were not missed because they were not known but genuine good cheer prevailed and integrity was the rule.

"Sonny" Corcoran. After his time was out in the 133d he enlisted in the 154th Illinois Infantry with Bert Brown for captain. He served about fifteen months in all. POSTERS FOR BIG ROUND-UP ARRIVE

Work of Posting Lithographer, Bills for Wild West Show and Roundup is Now in Progress—World's Champion Trick Rider to be Feature of Big Show.

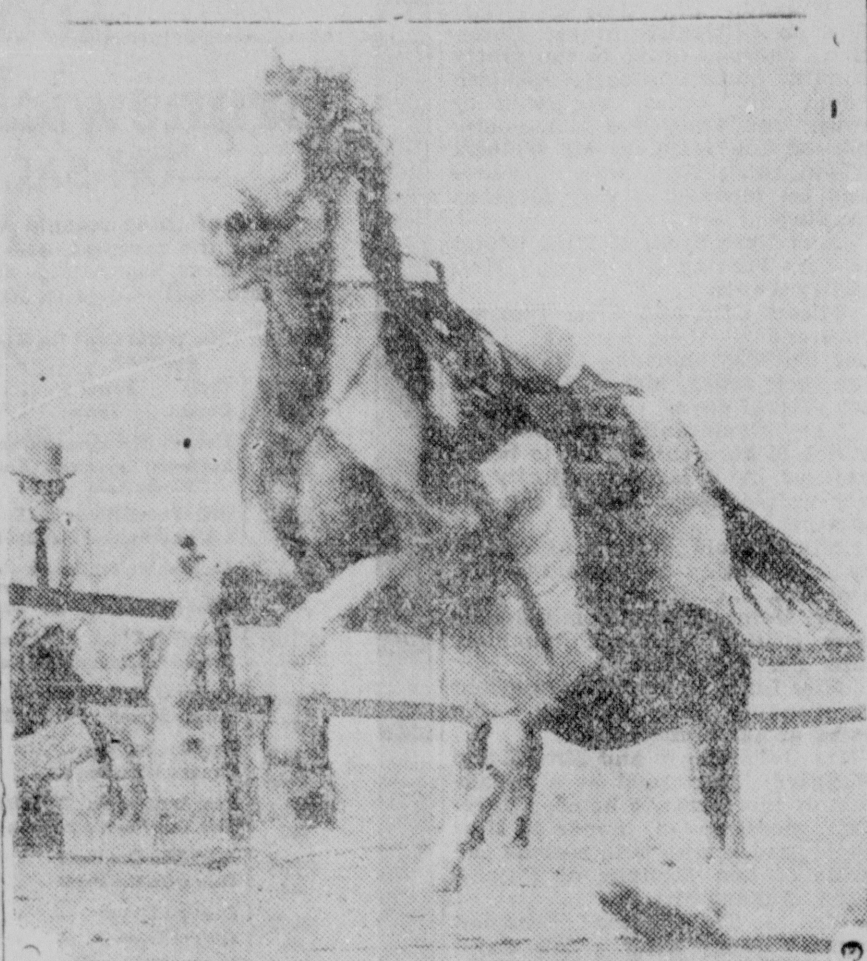

Publicity work in connection with the Wild West Cowboy Roundup to be staged in Jacksonville by the Chamber of Commerce on the St. Johns, Aug. 4th, 5th and 6th, was speeded materially yesterday afternoon by the arrival from Milwaukee Wis. of the big lithographed poster advertising the event.

These brilliantly printed sheets are works of art and are of all sizes from the big ones which would cover hundreds of square feet to the picture one sheets for use in windows.

Charles Starks, the man in charge of the bill posting work for the committee, started working in earnest this morning and is busy billing the western half of the county.

Banners have also arrived for use on automobiles. Members of the publicity committee and others are urged to co-operate in getting these advertising banners on cars in the city and county. Anyone who wants any of these banners may secure them at the Chamber of Commerce quarters over Myers Brothers.

One of the features of the roundup undoubtedly will be the work of Leonard Stroud. This man, who is the undisputed world's champion trick rider, will pull some thrills in the arena while here. One of his "stunts" is to swing clear around and under his horse while riding at top speed.

LEONARD STROUD

Champion trick rider of the world, who will manage Wild West Cowboy Roundup coming to Jacksonville August 4th, 5th and 6th.

He is shown in the accompanying picture in the act of swinging around his horse's neck while going full tilt.

A number of other cowboys tried to stand at the Chicago Rodeo but all to get much success out of it is their horses were not trained for the work. As soon as a cowboy started to swing in under his horse's head, the horse would immediately slow down and of course spoil the performer's effort. With Stroud's highly trained horse, however, it is different. When his own starts these stunts the horse knows what is required of him and dashes madly down the field at top speed. There are few men who will risk their lives in this sort of a stunt and Stroud rightly bears the title of champion.

JAMES M. BARNES WINS OPEN TITLE

Plays Brilliant Golf in National Tournament at Washington—Walter Hagen is Second

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Playing as fine a two days session of golf as the most pessimistic critic of the ancient and honorable game could desire, James M. Barnes, of the Pelham Bay, New York Country Club, won the open national championship on the course of the Columbia Country Club here late today with a score of 289 strokes for 72 holes.

Nine strokes in his wake came Walter Hagen of New York, champion in 1919, and Fred McLeod, champion in 1908, professional of the local course, each with a score of 295.

National Amateur Champion Charles (Chick) Evans of the Edgewater Club of Chicago, was fourth with 302, the first amateur of the original score or more of entrants to finish. Another of national golfing prominence, tied in the next group of three in the person of Robert T. (Bobby) Jones of Atlanta whose score of 303 placed him alongside the professionals, Alex Smith of New London and Emmet French of Youngstown, O.

Of the half dozen foreign entrants who gave an international aspect to the 26th national open championship, only one, George Duncan, winner of the 1920 English open with a score of 303 finished well up in the struggle for the American title. He was tied with Clarence Hackney of Atlantic City for eighth place with 305, two more strokes than he had required in his championship win at Deal, England.

New Record in Reach
Had Barnes been a trifle more fortunate in his putting on the final holes where he began to fall away, he would have created a new championship record. As it was he came within three strokes of the figure made by "Chick" Evans in the open of 1916 when the western amateur played around the Minneapolis course at Minneapolis at 286.

Today with an applauding and gaily bedecked gallery of some thousand spectators following Barnes who knew that he had the championship within his grasp after many previous futile efforts the strain appeared to tell on the final greens and he missed several putts which earlier in the play would have been easy for him.

Barnes played with the most superb confidence all thru the tournament. He was very long from the tee and appeared to have perfect trust in his irons. His putting was by far the best of any competitor, his only slips in this department of the game coming on the last nine holes of the tournament. Barnes was also the most consistent of any of the competitors in getting down in two from Green edges.

After his victory Barnes was presented with the National championship cup by President Harding on the green in front of Columbia Club House. Many prominent professionals fell before the pace set by Barnes and there were a number of golfing form reversals which stranded stars far in the rear. Among those who as looked the gallery by falling by the wayside were Jack Hutchinson, British open champion, who finished with 312, and Jack Burke, of St. Paul, who tied for second place last year. Today Burke picked up when he saw the hopelessness of his efforts to keep up with the leaders.

Daily Market Report

WHEAT PRICES

CLOSED NERVOUS
 CHICAGO, July 22.—Pressure of hedging sales more than counter-balanced in the wheat market today the effect of export buying. Prices closed nervous, one to 1 1/2¢ net lower with September $1.25 to $1.26 1/2 and December, $1.28 to $1.28 1/2. Corn finished 1/4¢ off to 1/2¢ and oats lost 1/4¢ to 1/2¢. In provisions the outcome was a gain of 2 to 10¢.

At first the wheat market was chiefly influenced by Russian famine reports and by indications that business with Europe was in progress on a considerable scale. On all the bulges in price, however, hedging sales were in evidence together with extensive profit-taking on the part of holders. Besides great doubt was expressed as to whether money could be found to pay for the vast quantity of wheat that Russia was said to need. In addition messages from Kansas City and Omaha indicated that consignment notice from rural sources were heavy and that receipts would remain large for some time as weather conditions favored thrashing and hauling. Under such circumstances declines were the rule after mid-day notwithstanding advances from the seaboard that Great Britain was in the market with Belgium and Germany as well.

Dry weather complaints of a disappointing nature affected corn. Higher quotations on hogs gave firmness to provisions.

GIRL INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Mildred Roberts Suffers Cuts About the Face When Windshield Breaks.

Mildred Roberts, nine years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Roberts of 1006 North Fayette street, sustained two cuts about the face as a result of an automobile accident Friday evening about 5:30 o'clock.

The girl and her parents had accompanied Mr. and Mrs. George Souza to Waverly on a business trip, and were returning in Mr. Souza's Ford car. About three and one-half miles this side of Waverly they met another Ford coming from the other direction.

This car, according to Mr. Roberts' statement, kept to the middle of the road, making it difficult for Mr. Souza to pass. As Souza turned out, he had a blow-out in one of the front wheels. In some way the wheel was smashed, and the windshield broken.

Flying glass cut the little girl on the left side of her forehead and in another place just above the right eye.

The party returned to Jacksonville in another car, and took the injured girl to Dr. W. P. Duncan who dressed her wounds. Her injuries are not thought to be serious.

MARDI GRAS NIGHT AT BIG ROUND-UP

Will Embrace all the Well Known Features That Term Implies—Popularity Contest to Select Queen.

Determined to leave nothing undone which would add to the general interest of the Round-Up, the Chamber of Commerce has arranged to have a Mardi Gras night which will embrace all of the well known features the term implies. This will furnish amusement and entertainment in the evening and provide an opportunity for those who wish to do so to become a part of the show.

Those people who have visited New Orleans, Tampa or other southern cities during the annual Mardi Gras season know that the big event is the selection of a queen for the ensuing year. This event is preceded by a spectacular parade and followed by a costume ball. On this occasion the entire public is invited to appear in fancy costume enmasque, street dancing and general merriment continues until a late hour.

To secure a queen for the Round-Up Mardi Gras a popularity contest will be held. Candidates in this contest must be nominated by a member of the Chamber of Commerce. Votes are five cents each and the candidate receiving the greatest number of votes will be declared queen of the Mardi Gras. The next four highest in the voting will be maids of honor to the queen.

During the coronation ceremony the queen will be presented with a valuable diamond ring as a souvenir of the occasion and other valuable souvenirs will be presented to the maids of honor.

The contest opens Wednesday, July 27th and closes Thursday, August 4th.

Friday, August 5th, will be Mardi Gras night. At seven o'clock the royal party, consisting of the queen, maids of honor, pages, heralds, courtiers and flower girls in appropriately decorated automobiles will lead the parade of other decorated vehicles and floats. All will be dressed in court costumes and will take part in the parade. The line of march and the place of the coronation pageant will be announced early next week.

THE ART OF FORGERY AND CHECK ALTERING

The following article on forgery and check altering has been submitted to the Journal by H. R. Edwards, a specialist in the forgery department of a well known guaranty company. Mr. Edwards is now located in this city, in charge of the Jacksonville-Quincy district for his company.

Despite the science and ingenuity of protective methods such as safety paper and mechanical devices, the bankers and business men lost $30,000,000 in 1919, and a reported $51,000,000 in 1920 against $22,000,000 in 1913. Approximately 80 per cent is due to forgery in the claims that has been called to our attention. This tremendous increase can be traced to conditions of today plus a greater volume of business over 1913.

Hardly a business man in the country has escaped being victimized in one way or another thru the various misuses of the bank check. Naturally, devices and arrangements for protection flooded the market, only to go down to defeat by the check artist. First, introduction of the mechanical device that perforated the paper, cutting the amount to be drawn. Then the professional changer discovered it was not impossible to fill up these tiny perforated holes. By getting one of these perforated machines and various bank checks of colors thru skillful operation he succeeded in pasting back these tiny disks and when the check was dry he punched his amount into the check to suit himself—then altering the ink amount to whatever figure he placed on the amount line.

Safety Paper Easy

Next that appeared so infallible was the safety paper, but it was only a question of time and the artist was again on his way to meet the latest device 'the check writer', checks that were issued on safety paper became the easy source for alteration. First the payee's name, date, number and amount were removed with acid—then covering the signature with heated wax—then the whole check is dipped into butterfly tints to bring back its original color. He then removes the wax from signature and inserts the amount and payee's name, date and number to suit himself.

Checks written with the later check protectors appeared to be another infallible protector. First the artist removes the ink on the amount with acid, lays check on a blotter and rubs with his thumb nail from the back to press perforation pores even, then pressing very tightly the pores back to original position.

When this is accomplished he uses a machine of the same make to write in the desired amount, inking the machine heavily to blur any defects.

Business men believe that cancelled checks are infallible from being cashed again, but the artist pins a blank check to the cancelled voucher and tears both so placed as to obtain his signature, amount wrote in ink, then he places the end of the cancelled voucher to the blank check by wetting the edges and rubbing briskly with a smooth one-half dollar. He then fills in the desired amount and payee's name and cashes the check. The artist usually opens an alias account in some bank and deposits these checks against his account, usually changing the date and number in case check is cancelled.

Are Deft Workmen

It would give the ordinary man heart trouble to watch the deft and swift operations practiced in raising the amounts by a few strokes of the pen, for instance. Four out of one, fifty of five, forty of four, sixty out of six, seventy out of seven or eleven out of seven. A number of years ago a check artist managed to pick open a mail bag at a Philadelphia railway station. He took a large number of checks sent out by local business houses, then raised the amounts, changing the payee's name to one of his aliases and passed these checks. Some of the concerns did not discover the losses until weeks later when checks were returned from their banks. This forger's haul from the single transaction amounted to about $500,000.

Concerns of today feel safe in mailing checks to responsible parties only (no one ever knowingly mails a check to a crook), but they eventually discover how easy their checks were stolen from the mail or cashed by the other concern's employees. The last and most vital is the forging of the signature. This is done by use of an extremely pointed lead pen, drawing offhand upside down from the back until signature is perfect. Then he traces the signature with ink.
